

WAVES OF BRITISH BOMBERS AGAIN HIT RUHR; JAP FLEET LIMPING WESTWARD TO HOME BASE

Electrol Plant Will Expand

Pilgrim Co. Plant Will Be Taken

200 Additional Mechanics Will Be Needed When Plant Is Increased by 60,000 Square Feet

Pilgrim Plans Will Lease Three or Four Small Places in This City

Electrol Inc., Aircraft Division, will begin within a few days a big expansion program of the local plant on Grand street which when completed will increase the present plant by some 60,000 square feet of floor space and will give employment to at least an additional 200 mechanics. Work on the expansion program will be underway in a few days when the Electrol will take over the plant of the Pilgrim Furniture Company which is now housed in the former Lorillard Refrigerator building adjoining the former Apollo plant which now is operated by Electrol in the manufacture of aeroplane hydraulics.

Jelico Realty, Inc., of Kingston, owners of the Pilgrim Furniture Company plant, has entered into a contract of sale, which will be concluded as soon as a search of title is completed, whereby the former Lorillard building will be sold to the Defense Plant Corporation and leased to Electrol for defense work.

Pilgrim Furniture Company now occupies the building under a lease which has several years to run. An agreement has been reached between Pilgrim Furniture Company and the Defense Plant Corporation whereby the Pilgrim company will vacate the premises within 30 days in order that the expansion program of Electrol may get under way without delay.

Electrol, Inc., now engaged in the manufacture of aeroplane hydraulics, will more than double its capacity when the new plant is in operation. The Electrol plant is under the direct supervision of the United States Navy and the Jelico Realty Company property is now being bought by the Defense Plant Corporation for the Navy. The Kingston plant is being operated by Electrol for the Navy under a lease agreement.

Speed and More Speed
The entire transaction is one calling for speed and more speed. Pilgrim Furniture Company will vacate the premises in 30 days and move its plant to another location in town and the building will then be completely overhauled and placed in shape for use by Electrol. Ninety days will probably be required to get the building in shape and it will take about six months to get machinery in the building and get the new addition under full production.

When the new plant is complete there will be need for at least 200 additional mechanics. This morning it was stated at the Electrol plant that good mechanics of top grade could be used at any time but that the need for a larger force of men would become imperative on completion of the new plant.

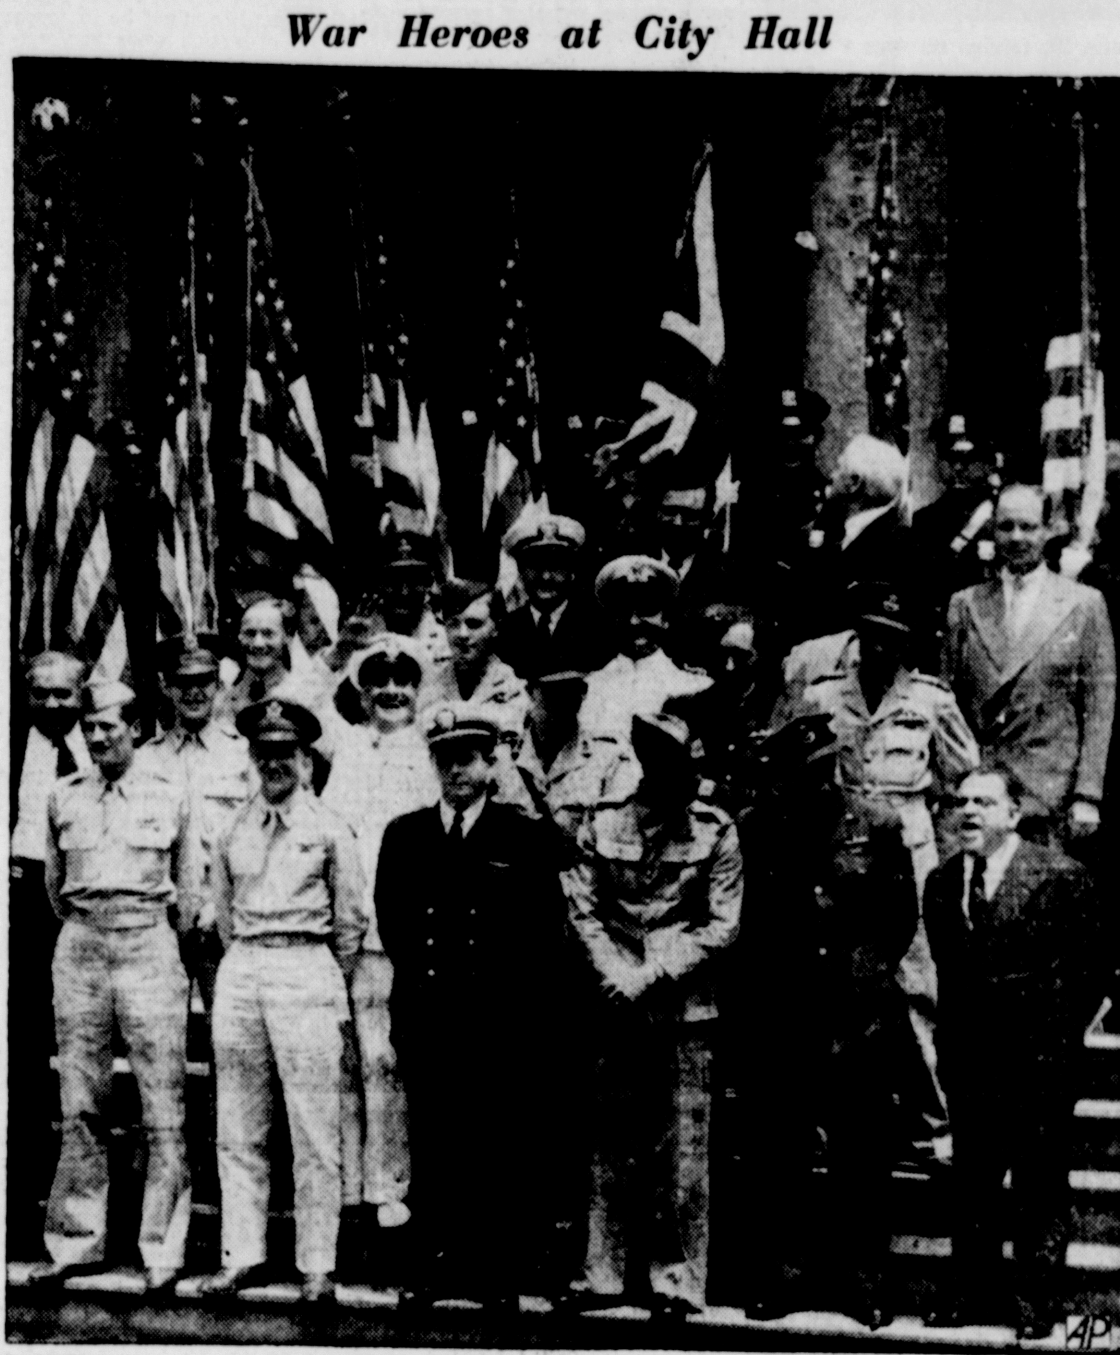

Electrol has increased by some 200 men its staff during the past ninety days. The present payroll is of a very substantial amount and will be greatly increased when the additional machines are in operation.

Under the expansion program there will be about $120,000 spent in placing the new building in shape. This will include new roofs, painting the interior and exterior, new cement floors, rebuilding the heating system and there will be extensive electrical changes necessary including a new and modern lighting system.

It was stated that most of the men employed at the plant were local and that the rate of pay at the Electrol plant is as high as any rate of pay in the east for skilled mechanics.

Tribute to Kingston
A tribute to the people of Kingston was paid today by a plant official who stated that what the concern was looking for in the way of workmen was "good solid American stock" and that this had been found in Kingston. Living conditions here were most attractive

Coffee, Tea and Cocoa to Be Rationed; Clothing an Eventual Possibility

Washington, June 9 (AP)—An official forecast of America's food and clothing situation lists coffee, tea and cocoa as likely to be rationed and clothing as an eventual rationing possibility.

The forecast, by Joseph L. Winler, deputy director of the War Production Board division of supply, was given at a press conference yesterday. It pictured the commodity situation as follows:

Rationing of coffee, tea and cocoa is likely. Bananas will be scarce. Fish supplies will be limited by the submarine hazard to fishing fleets, and lease-lend shipments will reduce the amount of pork available. But there is no danger that the country will lack necessary staples.

Gifts of $1,000 Open Esopus U. S. O. Drive

With a goal fixed at $2,500 in the U. S. O. drive in the town of Esopus, it was announced Monday night at the initial meeting held in the fire station in Port Ewen that gifts totaling $1,000 had been pledged. The Hiltbrand Dry Dock Co. had contributed $500 of the amount and the Hercules Powder Co. the other $500.

The committee in charge of the drive in the town is comprised of members from the Democratic and Republican organizations, who will make the solicitations.

John T. Groves is chairman and William J. C. Buddenhagen is treasurer, and they report wholehearted cooperation upon the part of those asked to make the canvass.

Beaten and Badly Wounded Jap Fleet Is Slinking Home

Losses Particularly Serious for Japan Because of Her Navy to Protect Ill-Gotten Gains

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The beaten and badly wounded Jap fleet seems to have hidden itself from pursuit in the vastness of the Pacific and to be slinking home from its rash adventure at our Midway base, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that while the enemy may not have suffered an overwhelming defeat his striking-power has been very considerably lessened.

We may never learn the full extent of the damage our forces inflicted on the Nipponese at Midway, but at least three enemy warships were sunk, eleven more heavily damaged and virtually the whole accompanying air force was destroyed. Our announced losses were one destroyer sunk, an airplane carrier damaged and some planes destroyed.

That brings estimated Japanese naval losses since Pearl Harbor up to sixty-eight warships sunk and seventy-one damaged. This is apart from a large number of secondary vessels and 146 transports sunk or damaged.

You begin to get an idea of how badly this hurts when you consider that the estimated strength of the Mikado's navy at the outset of the war was in the neighborhood of 260 ships. The sixty-eight sunk would be more than a quarter of this total, and if you add the 71 craft damaged you have more than half. These into official estimates don't take into account any ships which may have been commissioned since the war began.

Now these losses are particularly serious for Japan because of her dependence on her navy not only to wage offensive war but to protect her ill-gotten conquests.

Chinese Reported To Have Thrown Japs in Reverse

Wipe Out Invasion Force Which Gained Foothold at Chuhshien, Key Rail Center

Predict Return

Observers Believe Japan's Fleet Will Return for Attack

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese fleet which escaped after a terrific pounding in the battle of Midway was reported limping westward to the refuge of home waters today, while on the China war front, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese armies were said to have thrown a strategic Japanese victory into reverse.

Without specifically mentioning the Japanese Naval disaster at Midway, Tokyo dispatches quoted by the Berlin radio today suggested that Japan may be preparing her people for bad news.

"One cannot always expect victories but must also be able to stand losses," the broadcast quoted an unnamed Japanese Admiral as saying.

So far, the Tokyo radio has maintained silence on the Midway sea fight.

Developments on China's East coast seemed momentarily swinging a little more in favor of Gen. Chiang's armies, but the Chinese acknowledged that reinforced Japanese invasion columns were again advancing along the Burma road into far southwest China.

A Chungking military spokesman said Chinese troops wiped out a Japanese invasion force which had gained a foothold at Chuhshien, key rail center of western Chekiang Province, and regained possession of the city.

Chekiang, on China's east coast, is important as a potential base for Allied air attacks on Japan.

The Chinese had previously acknowledged loss of the Chuhshien airport and a Japanese thrust into the town itself, following a Tokyo claim to a full victory there Saturday.

A Chinese government spokesman expressed China's gratitude for what he called a prompt and generous response to appeals for help from both the United States and Great Britain, but declared that "the situation remains grave."

"The next few months will be very critical," he said.

While Japan's battered sea armada retreated from Midway—where the contact was lost Saturday night—Pilot Harbor observers predicted that the enemy fleet, with reinforcements, would probably return for another "face saving" attack on American defenses in the Pacific.

Official reports said that before contact was lost, the enemy suffered at least three warships sunk, 11 more heavily damaged and the accompanying air arm practically wiped out.

United States losses were listed

$280,000,000 Bill For W.P.A. Sent To House Today

Washington, June 9 (AP)—A $280,000,000 W.P.A. bill designed to give employment to 400,000 persons a month starting July 1 was sent to the House by its appropriations committee today with a warning that a sharp retrenchment program was inevitable.

In an accompanying report, the committee said that the appropriation, recommended only two weeks ago by President Roosevelt, would mean a reduction of 575,000 persons from the average of the current fiscal year.

With W.P.A. employment this month estimated at 750,000, the committee said that 400,000 figure would mean either a "precipitous decrease" of 350,000 immediately or a gradual decline which would force employment far below 400,000 later. The report asserted:

"During the fiscal year 1943 with estimated unemployment of 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 and one-half of that number estimated to be eligible for Work Projects Administration employment, the W.P.A. with estimated employment of 400,000 under the funds available would provide employment for between one-fifth and one-sixth of the total unemployed, and between one-fourth and one-fifth of those eligible for W.P.A. projects."

The committee said that "casual

12 Are Missing When Navy Training Blimps Crash Over Atlantic

Navy Will Not Discuss Mission of Blimps Which Set Out From Lakehurst

Lakehurst, N. J., June 9 (AP)—Coast Guards recovered today three bodies and wreckage from one of two navy training blimps lost in what apparently was a mid-air collision over the Atlantic ocean while on an "experimental mission."

Only one survivor was known. Still missing were nine of the 13 naval and civilian occupants of the G-1 and the smaller L-2 when they set out last night from the naval air station at Lakehurst. The airships plunged into the ocean about four miles off Manasquan, which is 16 miles northeast of Lakehurst.

Sheriff Lewis Menninger of Ocean county reported recovery of the three bodies in the gondola of the L-2, dragged ashore at Point Pleasant beach.

Among the bodies was that of Lt. Cmdr. Clinton S. Rounds of Toms River, senior officer aboard the two craft and a survivor of the dirigible Macon disaster off the California coast in 1935.

Rounds is survived by his widow and six-year-old daughter, Carmella, who celebrated Mrs. Rounds' birthday with a cake last night alone because they did not know what time navy aeronaut would be home from his experimental flight.

The navy declined to discuss the mission. All occupants of the blimps were equipped with life-jackets for use should the craft be forced down on the water. They were about 400 feet above the sea when they apparently collided.

Ensign Howard Fahey of Scarsdale, N. Y., was rescued and brought ashore by coast guards early today. He suffered an apparent fracture of an arm in the crash, but swam about until picked up.

Coast guard boats patrolled the area for possible other survivors and grappled for the G-1.

A clock in the gondola of the L-2 had stopped at 10:20 p. m.

Those dead or missing were: Lieutenant Commander Rounds, listed as a pilot.

Lieut. Frank A. Trotter, Toms River.

Ensign C. C. Ross, R. F. D. 1, Jacksonville, Fla.

Ensign K. G. Lee, New London, Conn.

O. V. Roos, aviation chief machinist's mate, Lakewood, N. J.

R. C. Poter, aviation chief machinist's mate, Langdon, Kan.

W. H. Herndon, Jr., boatswain's mate, first class, Lakehurst.

These civilians were aboard: Dr. J. C. Hoover, Middletown, Conn.

L. S. Moyer, Minneapolis, Minn.

Vella Tilles, San Diego, Calif.

F. C. Gilbert, New London.

Dr. A. E. Wyse, San Diego.

The training station said the civilians were on the mission as technicians or scientists.

Lieutenant Trotter was a pilot and Ensigns Ross and Lee were co-pilots of one of the blimps.

Gripsholm Arrives

Jersey City, N. J., June 9 (AP)—The 18,134-ton passenger liner Gripsholm arrived today from Gothenburg, Sweden, a day late on her mission to exchange Japanese and American diplomats and nationals. The white-painted Swedish American liner, which has not been seen in this country in several years, carried 193 Swedish and other Scandinavian-Americans.

A spokesman for both industries, which are represented on a committee of the war engineering board, emphasized, however, that the solution to the present rubber shortage was not "just around the corner."

The committee, headed by James G. Zeder, chief engineer in charge of laboratories for Chrysler

Corporation, has been exploring for more than a month all possible sources of relief for the impending tire shortage. Zeder said the tire and automotive companies have pooled all their information from many years of experimentation in rubber substitutes.

The committee's objective, he said, is to "do something quickly" to meet the essential transportation needs.

Thus the present search is mainly for a re-treading substance, designed to rejuvenate tires now on the nation's vehicles. Zeder termed as "criminal" the use of tires already worn to the cord. At that point, he said, "you are getting at the very heart of what is left that could be used."

Gas Rationing To Hinge on Survey of Scrap Rubber

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Postponement of any nationwide gasoline rationing until a comprehensive survey is made of the country's available scrap rubber was predicted in congressional quarters today.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) said he understood such a survey was being contemplated and other informed legislators added that it was likely President Roosevelt would await the results before deciding whether it was necessary to put all private automobiles on short fuel rations.

Barkley told reporters there were all kinds of estimates on the amount of rubber that could be reclaimed from the scrap pile, ranging from the 10,000,000 ton estimate of one big business executive down to a war production board expert's guess that only 700,000 tons could be obtained.

Meanwhile, Price Administrator Leon Henderson reported to a Senate committee that it was likely that slightly more than 300,000 tons would be reclaimed in 1942. Henderson informed a special committee investigating the gasoline situation, headed by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.), that 6,000,000 tire caps probably could be made from this amount.

At the same time Henderson expressed the opinion that no combination of tire conservation measures which did not include nationwide gasoline rationing could hope to avert "a serious transportation crisis."

Dependents Will Be Taken Care Of

Scale Kept Moderate to Stop Indiscriminate Drafting by Boards

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Dependents of army and navy men had congressional assurance today their financial needs would be taken care of, in a moderate way at least, by Uncle Sam and his fighting men.

House passage late yesterday of legislation embodying the general pay provisions of a bill previously approved by the Senate put both branches overwhelmingly on record in favor of the same scale of payments, leaving extraneous provisions to be worked out by a joint conference committee.

At the same time the Senate agreed, 58 to 20, to raise the minimum monthly pay of service men to $50, effective as of June 1. The measure probably will reach the President for final approval late this week.

On the dependents' allowance bill, the only disagreement of any consequence between Senate and House was over a Senate proviso under which the definition of dependency for draft purposes would have been broadened to include factors other than actual financial dependency, such as the family relationship.

Members of the House military committee, who have gone on record as being opposed to the disruption of established families,

"Interim" Automobile Tire Until Synthetic Rubber Is Available

Detroit, June 9 (AP)—There will be an "emergency" or "interim" automobile tire, designed to keep most of America's motor cars in operation until the government-sponsored rubber substitute program bears fruit, if the combined technical resources of the nation's automotive and tire industries can produce it.

A spokesman for both industries, which are represented on a committee of the war engineering board, emphasized, however, that the solution to the present rubber shortage was not "just around the corner."

The committee, headed by James G. Zeder, chief engineer in charge of laboratories for Chrysler

Corporation, has been exploring for more than a month all possible sources of relief for the impending tire shortage. Zeder said the tire and automotive companies have pooled all their information from many years of experimentation in rubber substitutes.

Thus the present search is mainly for a re-treading substance, designed to rejuvenate tires now on the nation's vehicles. Zeder termed as "criminal" the use of tires already worn to the cord. At that point, he said, "you are getting at the very heart of what is left that could be used."

R. A. F. Also Hit Targets in German Occupied France

Russia Declares Germans Suffer Heavy Casualties in New Drive on Crimea Base

African Front

British Report That Allies Crush Heavy New Axis Attacks

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

Waves of British warplanes, perhaps 450 strong, visited another night of terror, death and destruction upon Germany's industrial valley of the Ruhr before dawn today and also struck at targets in Nazi-occupied France and Holland.

Eighteen R.A.F. bombers were acknowledged missing from the overnight assaults, which followed a British radio broadcast urging people of France to evacuate the coastal areas from the Belgian frontier to the Pyrenees. The Germans claimed 24 British planes.

The British broadcast warned of impending allied operations of "capital importance" to be executed "at the most opportune moment."

In the Russian campaign, Soviet dispatches reported that German tanks, troops and planes attacking in a five-day-old offensive against Russia's long-besieged Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol in the Crimea, had been thrown back in fierce battles in two sectors. By contrast, German field headquarters asserted that Nazi infantry, supported by heavy artillery and strong air squadrons, stormed Soviet defenses on a height commanding Sevastopol and repulsed Russian counterattacks with "bloody losses."

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the Germans were suffering terrific casualties in the new drive after losing 50,000 men since the siege began seven months ago.

Red Star said German General Fritz Erich von Manstein was throwing clouds of airplanes and heavy infantry reinforcements into a furious attempt to smash the Black Sea base's defenses.

Red Star Report

Counter-attacking Red army forces broke a wedge which the Germans succeeded in driving into one sector, however, and hurled the enemy back in another sector, Red Star declared.

The Germans said strong Nazi air formations renewed attacks on the Crimean fortress, spreading fires along the waterfront with direct bomb hits.

On the North African battlefield, British headquarters reported that Lieut.-Gen. Neil Ritchie's armies crushed heavy new Axis attacks on Bir Hacheim, 50 miles southwest of Tobruk, the inland anchor of Britain's 50-mile defense line.

A communique said Free French and Imperial Indian troops beat off a series of assaults by German tanks, infantry, artillery and dive bombers after fierce fighting.

Other British forces inflicted damage on Axis supply lines west of the bloody "Devil's Cauldron" where much of the heaviest fighting in the 15-day-old battle has centered.

Italy's high command tersely summed up the desert battle with the announcement that "fighting between opposing motorized and mechanized units continues."

On the Italian home front, the Fascist command acknowledges a new British air raid on Taranto, big naval base at the foot of the Italian boot, but declared that the only damage was inflicted by fire on shore installations.

Dispatches from the Libyan desert front said Gen. Pierre Koenig, commander of the British-Free French garrison at Bir Hacheim, flatly rejected a sixth straight Italian demand for surrender of the post.

Commenting on the R.A.F.'s night raids, the British said a "strong force" dropped explosives over hundreds of square miles of the Ruhr war foundries zone.

H Hitler's high command acknowledged that R.A.F. attacks on "several places" in western Germany inflicted civilian casualties and damage to residences and public buildings. Sixteen R.A.F. bombers were reported shot down.

In London, Britain's Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris declared that 10,000 bombers a night—nearly ten times the greatest force yet to strike at the Reich in last week's city-smashing assaults—

Peddlers' License May Be Applied to Jehovah's Witness

Washington, June 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that a municipal ordinance requiring a license for peddlers may constitutionally be applied to a member of "Jehovah's Witnesses" engaged in distributing literature for which contributions were solicited.

Such a requirement was challenged on the ground that it violated the right of freedom of press and of freedom to worship "Almighty God."

Justice Reed delivered the 5 to 4 decision applying to ordinances passed by Fort Smith, Ark., Casa Grande, Ariz., and Opelika, Ala. Justice Reed asserted that "any religious or didactic group" may be subjected "to a reasonable fee for their money-making activities" if "that money is earned by the sale of articles."

"A book agent," he added, "cannot escape a license requirement by a plea that it is a tax on knowledge. It would hardly be contended that the publication of newspapers is not subject to the usual governmental fiscal exactions."

Dissenting to the opinion were Chief Justice Stone, and Justices Murphy, Black and Douglas.

In a separate dissent Justices Black, Douglas and Murphy expressed the view that they had voted incorrectly to uphold a few years ago a Minersville, Pa., ordinance requiring school children to salute the American flag.

They explained that since they had joined in the majority opinion in the flag salute case, to which Chief Justice Stone was the lone dissenter, "We think this is an appropriate occasion to state that we now believe that it was also wrongly decided."

"Certainly," the three dissenters continued, "our democratic form of government functioning under the historic Bill of Rights has a high responsibility to accommodate itself to the religious views of minorities however unpopular and unorthodox those views may be."

Many New Junks Built

Chungking, June 9 (AP)—The ministry of communications announced today 2,163 junks of an improved type had been built at government dockyards in the past 36 months and that private contractors were being subsidized to help develop transport for the waterways of warping Free China. Many of the new junks are equipped with motors taken from over-age trucks. These are run by charcoal or coal, rather than gasoline.

Stamp Sales

During the past two weeks the following rooms have led in the sale of stamps at the high school:

For the boys—Rooms 269 with $8.25, room 152 with $70.75, room 151 with $20.05. For the girls the following rooms have led—Room 209 with $19.05, the library with $19.45 and the next week with a total of $13.15. The library has been the most consistent winner of not only the girls' rooms but throughout the entire school.

On May 28 the K. H. S. Band purchased four $100 bonds. The money which they invested has been raised by the presenting of their various concerts. It is hoped that in the near future this money will be used to purchase some additional band equipment.

The sale of stamps in the High School up to now totals nearly $5,000. This has all been bought in the last five months.

"New Spirit" Shown

In the May 27 assembly the students of the high school were shown the Donald Duck short which urged the people of the U. S. to pay their income tax early. The title of this short was "The New Spirit." This was the film that was made for the Treasury Department and over which a great fuss was made.

Awards Given

In a recent assembly the cheer leaders were awarded their large "K's" for their year's work. President Edward Luedtke, who awarded the letter to the students, made the remark that no matter where the athletic event was held there were always some cheer leaders present to lead the K. H. S. supporters in cheering. Those who received letters were: Judy Fessenden, captain; Betty Boyce, co-captain, and squad members Clyde Fulton, Bernice Johnson, Francis Hainer, Kathryn Phinney, Mildred LeFever, Ethel Post, Ruth Becker, Alice McGowan, Sherwin Rogers and Marion Tongue.

Following this Thomas Gallely was awarded his "K" for the performing of his duties as manager of all intermural sports.

Officers Chosen

At a recent meeting of the club the members of the Girls Leaders Club of K. H. S. elected their new members for next year.

The girls chosen to head the club for next year are: President, Mary Leach; vice-president, Mary Beach; secretary, Nan McDonough; and treasurer, Joan Conlon.

On Thursday, June 4, the members of the Leaders' Club had a picnic for those members graduating. The picnic was held in the back of the M. J. M. school. One of the feature events of the afternoon was the softball game between the Senior girls and Junior girls. The Juniors won. They then proceeded to beat the Sophomore girls. As a parting remembrance the members of the club who will return next year, gave the graduating members bracelets.

This club is one of the most active clubs in the high school. In addition to playing an important part in the annual May Day exercises they also manage all girl athletics. Most of the members of the club also take an active part in one or more sports offered for girls. This organization is in the hands of Mrs. Gertrude Smith.

Tea Given

A farewell tea was given in the high school library in honor of Miss Gertrude Somes, who is retiring this fall. Miss Somes has been the librarian at the high school for many years. At this tea a gift was presented to Miss Somes by Principal Dumm on behalf of the faculty. Also a gift was given to Mrs. Laphman, who was recently married. Mrs. Laphman teaches art.

Honorites Picnic

On Thursday afternoon, June 4, the newly elected members of the Honor Society and the old members held a picnic at Lawton Park. Although it rained most of the afternoon the members of the club had access to the spacious lodge where ping pong and eats were enjoyed. Following the eats the bolder members of the club, seeing the storm had abated, adjourned to the softball field where a rousing good game of ball was enjoyed. Tom Gallely's Sluggers downed Don Dumm's Swampillies to the tune of 23-4.

Representative Chosen

At a recent election held by the Junior boys three candidates were chosen to represent the Juniors at the New York State All-Boys' Camp sponsored by the American Legion. This year's camp will be held at Manlius. The boy that is finally chosen must possess the following qualifications: He must be between the ages of 15 to 17, he must have leadership ability, character, must be above average in scholarship and he must have given service to his school. The three chosen by the students were sent to the local American Legion where they chose the final representative. The one that is to go must return next year to school and teach others of his class what he learned.

A Junior girl was chosen this year to represent the Junior girls at a similar camp being sponsored for the first time, by the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion. This girl who will undergo the same experiences as the Junior Boy, is Charlotte Cooper.

St. John Speaks

Howard St. John, better known as Jack, was the guest speaker at the June 5 assembly. At this time he presented the speech he gave at Hamilton College. This speech, based on Lincoln's Gettysburg address, won second place for Jack in an oratorical contest held at Hamilton. Jack also represented K. H. S. in the American Legion oratorical contest which was held last year. Due to his commanding personality and the ease of his speaking, he went as far as the state finals. All who heard Jack speak on Friday realized that he is destined to be a fine speaker and that he already has a good start. Jack is a member of the class of '41 and he was class orator at last night last year.

On this same day, June 5, the members of both assemblies were shown a new anti-tuberculosis film entitled "Sand in the Gears." This film, which is one of the latest, was well received by both assemblies.

Graduates to Dance

The class of 1942 will bid farewell to the school where it spent four years during the dates of June 21 to 24. On the 21st the baccalaureate service will be held at the High School Auditorium. The following evening the annual class night program will be presented at the same place. A small nominal fee will be charged. On Tuesday night the graduation will be held in the Municipal Auditorium. The following night, which is Wednesday, June 24, the annual commencement dance will be held. The band which has been chosen to furnish the music for the affair is the Lafalece Brothers. This year the dance will be held from 9 to 1 o'clock and the members of the class of '42 are working hard to make this dance the most successful yet.

Summer School Notes

This year summer school will be held in the high school the same as usual. This year's session will start with registration day set for July 6 at 8:30 a. m.

The usual subjects will be taken. This summer for the first time a new type of course will be offered in the summer school. This is an elementary air cadet course open to any men between the ages of 18 and 26. This course, which is a combination of physics, applied mathematics and physical education, will require four hours of study daily. Thus all those who plan to take this course may take this and only this since there will be no time for any other subject.

Permissible production of civilian footwear in Great Britain this year will approximate 60 million pairs, 50 per cent of the prewar average, the Department of Commerce reports.

Too Alert

Los Angeles—A practice air raid warning test for civilian defense volunteers—not for the public—followed orderly procedure until: Police cars on routine calls sounded their sirens.

Three fire alarms were turned in.

Nine ambulances were summoned.

A huge air horn in the downtown district was set off accidentally.

The air raid wardens, although notified in advance there would be no blackout, thought it was the real thing and attempted to halt streetcars and forced motorists to turn out lights.

The confusion finally ended with the all clear signal.

Mother Rejoices As Court Ruling Stops Amputation

Seattle, June 9 (AP)—There was joyful relief in the heart of 11-year-old Patricia Hudson's mother today because the state's highest court ruled that a judge could not order the amputation of the child's maimed arm over the mother's protest.

Patricia remained in the Children's Hospital where she has been under observation for several months in anticipation of the risky operation which a juvenile court judge had ordered, pending Supreme Court approval.

She was not told last night that the Supreme Court had held in a 6 to 3 decision that a court could not overrule the parents' wish as long as the parents' right to custody of the child was not challenged.

Medical testimony in the case told of Patricia's distorted, dangling arm being 10 times the weight of the other, possibly equal to the weight of her body.

Doctors testified before Juvenile Judge William Long that the girl would have a 50-50 chance of surviving an operation. But said also that her life might be in jeopardy if no operation were performed.

Patricia, one of nine children, favored the surgical gamble. The father, Claude Hudson, 58-year-old invalid, was willing to leave the decision to the court.

The mother was adamant, expressing confidence that some way, somehow, medical relief for her daughter would be found without placing her life in jeopardy.

Chemicals and Telephones

Two of the Nation's Vital Needs

... in laboratory and workshop, ceaseless experimenting to meet the new war needs

An impressive part of America's war is being fought in the laboratories and production plants of the chemical industry. Chemists, all over the country, are working feverishly to meet war demands. Explosives, synthetic rubber, medicinal preparations, petroleum products and plastics are a few of the thousands of critical products being produced. New plants are being built, old plants enormously enlarged.

All this has meant a greatly increased demand by the chemical industry for telephone equipment and service. This demand must be and will be met, for chemicals are an essential part of our war equipment.

That's one reason why you are asked to cooperate in your own use of the telephone—so that the essential war industries will get the service they need.

Your Use of the Telephone in War Time

You can help us serve both you and the war effort if you will keep in mind these simple suggestions:

1. ANSWER YOUR TELEPHONE PROMPTLY

Even seconds are important these days. However, when you make a call, give the other fellow enough time to reach his telephone before you hang up.

2. LOOK UP NUMBERS YOU'RE NOT SURE OF. Refer to your personal number list or the directory and call "Information" only when you can't find the number there.

3. HANG UP RECEIVER CAREFULLY

A book or other object under the receiver may put your telephone "out-of-service." Replacing the receiver carefully will insure your getting all incoming calls.

4. KEEP PAD AND PENCIL HANDY

Having to look for them during a telephone conversation wastes time. Keeping notes avoids mistakes and confusion, so have pad and pencil by your telephone.

Interference

Denver—A gunman robbed a downtown restaurant of $200, but only after his patience was almost ended.

A LOCALLY OWNED ENTERPRISE

Your company is a local company. In every city, every village, and in almost every cross-roads hamlet in the Central Hudson Valley, lives someone who owns a share in it.

Clerks, plumbers, farmers, postal employees, policemen, nurses, doctors, lawyers, dressmakers . . . people in every walk of life are represented on the list of stockholders. The personal interest and financial support of each and every one have been vital factors in building this co-operative enterprise to its present position.

Coupled with this is the fact that your company is managed by local men who are as interested as any one of you in the continued development and prosperity of the region in which their lives are being lived.

Each one who owns a share is a partner in an essential war industry. The business of your company today is to supply service to factories to aid in the production of war materials . . . to farmers to aid in increasing the production of food . . . to the many homes of our war workers, the better to fit our workers for their big job of production.

Yes, it's a local enterprise! Find your town in the list below:

YOUR DUTY TO FORESTS
This summer brings a gigantic responsibility to those who live in the great forested areas of the United States—and to those who visit those areas. That responsibility is to give more thought, more effort, to the prevention of forest fires than ever before. The danger season is rapidly approaching. The worth of our timber resources cannot be described solely in terms of money. If a woodland is razed by fire, a great many years must pass before new trees can grow to usable size. One great forest fire, starting from a single spark, can utterly destroy millions of board feet of timber which the nation needs now. Much has been written of the danger to our forests from sabotage. This is a matter which must be handled by units of government. They should make the fullest preparation. Lookouts must be adequate. Fire-fighting crews must be ready. Equipment must be on hand. Forests must be constantly patrolled. What the individual must keep in mind is his own duty. The saboteur, planning for destruction, may do no more damage than an ignorant and careless camper or motorist. No one knows how much forest waste has resulted from improper disposal of smoking materials, and carelessness with camp fires. The total reaches staggering proportions. Only those who go into the forest can prevent such needless destruction. The rules are simple. Never leave a fire until it is completely out—and that means when it is soaked with water or buried deep in earth. Never drop a match or a cigarette butt until it is cold. Obey, to the letter, every of the regulations laid down for forest protection by the authorities. Remember that the very existence of the forests is in your hands.

BOMBING NOT ENOUGH
The large-scale bombing of Cologne and Essen, and of Rostock and Lubeck before them, points to the carrying out of Churchill's pledge to destroy, one by one, the German cities. With the increase of American plane production, this bombing will probably gain violence. Reading of it in the quiet of our homes, Americans may very easily have a comfortable idea that this is doing the trick. Just keep it up week after week on an ever larger scale, and the war will be won. The implication is that additional forms of attack, such as an invasion by infantry, will not be necessary. This is very doubtful. If it happens, it will be the first time in history that a man's size war was won comfortably by stay-at-homes working in the factories (plus perhaps a few thousand flyers), and not by the toil and blood of soldiers in the field. Wars simply are not won that way. It is a totalitarian struggle, and will require military effort of all kinds, including invasion by infantry, before Germany is beaten to her knees.

BASEBALL HEADACHES
Organized baseball has found a worse enemy than the war. This enemy is located on American soil, consisting of the New York Yankees. Last year they won the American League pennant by a 17-game margin and took four games out of five in the world's series. That makes five years out of the last six in which they have won the American League championship, and in each of those years they carried off the honors in the world's series. This year, with the season less than a third gone, they have a good lead, and apparently are going to coast in. It is not merely monotonous, it is boring to the customers. Only when the Yankees come to town are the stands full. When the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox played a much publicized game for the benefit of the navy, less than 8,000 persons turned out. Other cities make like reports. With the pennant race practically settled, the fans think there is nothing interesting left to fight for. The National League is less troubled, although there Brooklyn has a substantial lead. The minor leagues each stand, or fail to stand, on their own feet. Theoretically it should make no difference to them what happens in the American League. But when such a prominent organization suffers from the over-development of one team, the whole game suffers.

THE ALEUTIANS
Time was when anything that happened to the Aleutian Islands definitely was not news. Vitus Bering, the Dane who, exploring for the Russian government, gave his name to the strait, discovered them in 1728. In 1867, as part of the Alaska purchase, they were transferred by Russia to the United States. They are a headquarters for whalers. That is just about all that, till now, could be said about them. If the old saying is true, "Happy the land that has no history," the Aleutian Islands ought to be about the happiest region on earth. Now they are on the front page. All these years they have been waiting for their location to bring in dividends. Situated on the direct air line to Vladivostok and Japan, they are going to be more and more familiar to travellers. Perhaps future Americans will say one of the best features of Secretary Seward's purchase of Alaska was that it gave us the Aleutian Islands.

DETECTIVE STORIES
Since 1935 the Nazis have banned detective stories. It is easy to see why. The lesson above all others that is taught by detective stories (an argument for considering them the most moral of all books) is that crime does not pay. No matter how carefully the criminal covers up his misdeeds, or how highly entrenched he is in business or society, his crime is brought home to him and he receives the punishment that is due. No wonder the Nazis do not want the Germans doing that kind of reading. One vacation place is still open, unrestricted by rationing of cars or trains—the backyard. Most of us have spent vacations in far less comfortable places. It is rumored that the Japanese command also has dispatched a strong force to locate and destroy Shangri-La. "Sharing the ride" is fine, but not always possible: better learn to walk again, just in case.

TREATING ACNE
At least once a year a new treatment for acne (pimples) is reported, together with the number of cases treated. In the great majority of cases this new treatment has cured or greatly improved the appearance of these patients. I have, in turn, reported these various methods of treatment because, as with other ailments, what helps one may not help another. Among the methods of treatment recommended has been the use of gland extracts as nearly all cases start at the period of puberty when boys and girls are emerging into men and women. The gland extracts are pituitary, sex, and thyroid. Another method of treatment is by diet in which the fat and starch foods are reduced and fruit and vegetables increased. As it was found that many cases improved in the warm weather and became worse in the cold weather (when there was less sunshine), some physicians report success with sun lamp treatment. I have mentioned the viosterol treatment frequently because, while it does not achieve a cure in every case, the number of cases cured and the number of cases improved compares favorably with any other single form of treatment. During the past two years the amount of viosterol recommended has been doubled. For years the X-ray treatment was considered the best single method and most skin specialists still think so. As many acne sufferers may wonder just how much treatment by X-rays is necessary and how long it takes to get results, an article in the Ohio State Medical Journal by Dr. H. G. Miskin, Cleveland, gives this information. Dr. Miskin gives the X-ray treatment every two weeks. Three exposures are made on each side of the face and one vertically on forehead. While the face is being treated the forehead should be shielded (and vice versa) with a piece of heavy lead rubber. Usually eight treatments are sufficient. Dr. Miskin gives two X-ray treatments after all the pimples have disappeared. These extra two treatments are important as they prevent a return of the pimples. If any skin irritation or inflammation appears, no matter how slight, treatment is stopped for one or two months. A total of 1,500 "roentgens" is given and the treatment extends over 4 or 5 months.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

In reading an old clipping of November 25, 1925, to the effect that Charles K. Champlin of the Champlin Stock Company playing a week's engagement at the Kingston Opera House, was guest speaker at the noonday meeting of the Rotary Club recalled to mind the days of the "tens, twents and thirtys"—so-called because the price of admission was 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Mr. Champlin in his talk told of the days when he played the old Academy of Music on East O'Reilly street, which was destroyed by fire a number of years ago. He said that some of the members of Rotary may have been among the boys who paid a dime to see the show.

The clipping said that Mr. Champlin was a member of the Red Bank, N. J., Rotary Club. I recall the days when as a youth I attended some of the performances of the Champlin Stock Company which had been playing Kingston each season for a number of years.

As I walked past the Rondout Creek Bridge the other day I recalled that in November, 1905, there was talk of plans for building a bridge to connect Rondout with Port Ewen. I also recall that there was some talk of constructing a tunnel under the creek between Rondout and Sloatsburg.

It was not until many years later that the bridge was finally built; as for the tunnel, that never materialized.

I also recall that on November 23, 1905, occurred the death of William E. Dempsey, who for many years conducted a fish market on Mill street. Many older readers will recall the market. In the days before Mr. Dempsey embarked in the fish business he served as a pilot on the old ferryboat Lark, which plied between Rondout and Rhinecliff.

The Lark was later replaced, if memory serves me correctly, by the old Transport ferry.

Another old timer whom I recall was Harry Howard, who for years conducted a barber shop on lower Broadway. He died on April 13, 1922. Mr. Howard was the possessor of a pleasing tenor voice and sang for years in the choir of St. Mary's Church.

It is also interesting to recall that on Thanksgiving Eve in 1925, the Rotary Club was host to 154 of the newboys of Kingston at a turkey dinner at the Advance Restaurant on Wall street.

The Rotarians in charge of the dinner were Michael Beberfeld, E. Frank Flanagan, James Byrne, William O'Reilly and Samuel D. Scudder, Jr.

has arrived at her home on Maple avenue for the summer.

The Misses Marilyn and Dulcie Gale and Betty McGrath have returned from college for the summer.

Memorial Day brought quite a number of out-of-town guests to this place. Many came by train.

The Laplant and Kauntzman Farm cottage entertained relatives and friends over the holiday period.

Edith Van Leuvan is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Ferguson.

Memorial services were held Saturday morning on the ground where stands the American Legion memorial stone, which is inscribed with the names of those who went across in the World War. Mrs. Gossio is a Gold Star mother—her son, William, being killed in action.

Recovery of Confidence in U.S. Navy Is More Important Perhaps To American Morale Than Repulse of Jap Raid
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 9.—More important perhaps to American morale than the repulse of a Japanese raid on the Midway Island was the recovery of confidence in the United States navy among those who had lost it last December when the Pearl Harbor tragedy occurred.

The victory in the Midway area tells the American people that despite the slow start due possibly to clumsy initial organization last December, the United States Navy has struck the stride which for years had been expected of that branch of the service in any major war.

The navy suffered a blow in prestige when the lack of alertness at Pearl Harbor and the failure of reconnaissance to detect the enemy's approach cost America not only several warships but the lives of 3,000 American soldiers and sailors. Promptly a reorganization of the administrative side of the navy was ordered and the realignment of high personnel in the important staff commands at sea came to pass.

Today, the United States Navy is at peak efficiency and is disclosing that which those who knew what the years of training and practice could achieve always felt would materialize once we entered the war.

There need be no fears about the status of our relations with Japan and the fact that Washington never issued any mobilization orders to the fleet prior to December 7 may have kept our navy from showing the alertness that it is revealing today.

Lack of confidence comes when defeat is suffered. As victory grows, the confidence comes back. The victory in the Midway area, following as it did a similar gain in the battle of the Coral Sea, shows that there no longer is any divided responsibility but complete cooperation and synchronization of action as between the army and the navy and the marine corps.

The criticism of the navy which followed the Pearl Harbor tragedy served as a stimulant to redoubled effort. The navy has redeemed itself and will show from now on till the end of the war that its aviators are among the finest marksmen in the world and that aircraft carriers can be handled efficiently along with other warships in major operations.

There need be no fears about the navy in the coming months of the war. Its surface ships will give a good account of themselves and there may come a time when our battleships will vindicate themselves, too. It will be noted that the Japanese did not discard the battleships but carried three in that raid on Midway as well as four carriers.

The controversy between the school that favors the battleship and the school that thinks it has been displaced by airpower is by no means over. There is room for both in a well-balanced fleet. Unfortunately for the battleship, mistakes in tactics and in handling that type of ship have been more responsible than the capital ship itself for the blow to its prestige.

America has obsolete battleships and first-class battleships. To have a well-balanced fleet the outworn vessels should be replaced now for future safety. There are rumors that the anti-battleship school has suggested in sidetracking future construction in favor of modernizing oil ships or in favor of great expenditure on aircraft.

If America is to have a seven-ocean navy it will have to build all the battleships hitherto planned.

It is obvious that air power has been given deserved recognition by the navy. The demand for more aircraft carriers has been met by congressional appropriations and the program. But airpower alone cannot be depended upon to carry through when carriers have been damaged or sunk and the battle is fought out by the remaining units of the fleet.

As confidence in the navy grows, so will confidence in the men who know battle strategy. Confidence incidentally will grow in the navy as artificiality disappears in the government agencies in handling so-called propaganda. The navy department has not been guilty of any of this, but it suffers from the general distrust which the public has toward propaganda agencies. The mere existence of an Office of Facts and Figures which does not confine itself to either trying to tell the public what to think and how to think is an influence that casts discredit on official communications.

The rumor that good news has been held back so as to be timed to offset the effect of bad news is unfounded but nevertheless has been widely believed by newsmen. The truth is the navy is not a party to such political tricks and the rumors grew only because New Deal agencies have insisted on setting up the European propaganda facts and figures to legitimate operating press associations and news agencies which can soon separate the artificial from the natural and the unreal from the real.

The navy announcements can be believed, because the navy lets its own officers write their communications without editing from any outside source.

Air Power Wins Again
Washington, June 8.—Air power won the battle of the Coral Sea and air power now has given America a major victory in the battle of the Midway area in the Pacific.

This does not mean that surface ships didn't play an effective role, for they doubtless did, but it does mean that America has learned how to synchronize air and sea power and use them effectively together. It is only because air power has tipped the balance with the decisive factor of reconnaissance, speed and range in protection of the fleet and in applying offensive punishment to the enemy fleet that the laurels may be given to aviation.

From the words of the official communiqué issued after the battle of the Coral Sea and from somewhat the same wording after the battle of the Midway area, certain conclusion can be deduced that tell of the originality of America's use of air power.

Thus both official communiqués after the two battles spoke of the participation of the United States army. This can only have meant the army air corps. Since the size of bombers or fighter planes that can take off from the deck of aircraft carriers is limited, it must mean that flying fortresses arriving from land bases played a vital part in the naval action in both the Coral Sea and in Midway.

The range of our big bombers hitherto published varies from 3,000 to 6,000 miles. Maybe it is larger than anything guessed at by the public. This correspondent doesn't know but has confidence in the engineering genius of the aircraft industry. It is performing miracles in this war.

Since the army air corps participated, it is possible that some of our flying fortresses replacing those which the Japanese six months ago destroyed at Pearl Harbor easily flew the 1,200 miles from Hawaii to the Midway Islands and thence to the battle zone probably 200 to 300 miles further away. It is ever possible that these fortresses didn't arrive on the first day of the battle, but came in response to radio notification when the Japanese fleet was encountered. With bombers flying 400 miles or more on hour, it should have taken only a few hours for the big bombers to have arrived at the battle area. It will be recalled that the official announcements say the battle lasted several days—time enough for us to work a relay of flying fortresses or medium sized bombers from Hawaiian bases.

It is even possible that we sacrificed some bombers—the pilots bailing out and letting the planes go to the bottom. It would be a small price to pay for inflicting such a damaging blow on the Japanese fleet power. It is possible also that we may have sent bombers out to scour the sea and then ferried to land at Dutch Harbor for handling planes. It will be noted that the official announcement speaks of a continuing battle and of possible further damage to the Japanese fleet.

The fact that so many Japanese warships have been officially announced as sunk or damaged and that the navy speaks of combined army and marine corps and naval action would lead to the surmise that the United States fleet could not have mustered a big enough force of surface ships alone to achieve the victory. It may be inferred that the Japanese took their chance by sending out an armada of warships believing that with five aircraft carriers and at least 150 fighting planes, they would be more than a match for any units of the far-flung American fleet which has been dispersed so widely in the Pacific on convoy duty.

It is apparent, too, that the Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor were mere feints designed to divert attention and perhaps more American ships from the Midway area so that a decisive attack on Midway and then Hawaii could be launched.

Unquestionably the Japanese did not count on the terrible damage which our land-based army and marine corps planes can and doubtless underestimated also the size of our naval fleet. Maybe the British navy had something to do with this part of the strategy. Only last Friday it was officially announced that a huge British convoy reached India early in May accompanied by some of the most powerful units of the British navy. In the month of the Japanese attack, where did those British warships go? Presumably they went around Australia to the South Pacific and relieved some of the American warships which had been on duty there, thus giving the American navy a chance to mobilize in the vicinity of Midway or over in the Caroline Islands—areas from which our ships may have started.

The navy has been wisely secretive about the movements of its ships. The public have grown impatient that data about our losses in the battle of the Coral Sea almost a month ago were not promptly announced. The censorship, however, appears to have been fully justified. For we evidently could not have known not only as to the size and whereabouts of our surface vessels but we gave them no details concerning the radius of effectiveness or method of operating our bombing planes from land bases. And that was the major surprise which undoubtedly turned the tide victory for the allies since the war began. (Reproduction rights reserved)

New Paltz Has First Class As State Teachers College

Initial Commencement Is Held, Degrees Conferred on Four-Year Group at County School

New Paltz, June 9.—Public education in New York State reached another milestone today, as the 56-year-old State Teachers College here graduated its first four-year class, conferred its first baccalaureate address, and held its first commencement under its new teachers college title. With eight other state normal schools, New Paltz this spring became a state teachers college.

Warning that pressure would be exerted on high schools to "speed up" their courses so that colleges three years from now would not be without freshman classes, Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant state commissioner of education, asserted that this would be of "no slight value" in the war effort. Declaring that he had "acute sympathy" with the problems of the colleges, Dr. Van Kleeck, commencement speaker, said that "you can't speed up nature."

College acceleration programs are "wise and laudable," he said, but the financial needs of colleges must not be rationalized to overrule the dictates of common sense," he continued. College preparatory pupils are a "small fraction of high school enrollments," he said, and it would take five or six years before "accelerated" high school sophomores would complete college. Many would finish college at the age of nineteen, he warned, adding that the State Education Department's advisory councils were opposed to high school "forced-feeding" schemes. In individual cases, four-year high school courses have been shortened, Dr. Van Kleeck explained, but the extension of this to all boys should be resisted.

Other attempts to lower educational standards should also be resisted by the new teachers, Dr. Van Kleeck stated. He mentioned especially the plan of the University of Chicago to award a degree for two years of study. This he called "the latest brain-storm" of Chicago's president.

"Not content with insidious attacks on public education over a period of years," said Dr. Van

Kleeck, "that university's president turns now and attempts to foul the nest of higher education. The flaws in the plan are obvious to any child who knows that two and two, not just two alone, make four. A watered-down bachelor's degree, based on half the usual study, is just as much a fraud as it would be for me to offer fifty cents in payment for a one-dollar purchase. The pity is that the American Association of Colleges and Universities does not turn on this scheme with the same force with which campus police would rebuff any attempt to make off with half the books in a college library."

The teacher's role today is more important than ever before, because teachers are custodians of "the deadliest weapon of the twentieth century, knowledge," Dr. Van Kleeck said. He continued:

War of Ideas

"The war we wage is more than a war between armies or even between nations. It is a war between ideas. It is a conflict between opposing philosophies of life, between two ways-of-living, both of which cannot exist in the world. One or the other must perish. That war is being fought not merely in the battlefield but in the minds and hearts of men, to which sanctuaries only ideas can penetrate. We have learned in these last few bitter, trying months that either democracy or the rule of the jungle must die, not merely in the United States, not merely even in all the Americas, but on all the continents of this planet."

The greatest ingredients in the makeup of the great teacher are kindness, love of children and sympathy for the learner, Dr. Van Kleeck said. All the college degrees in the world will not take their places, he said, decrying the modern tendency to attempt to "measure everything with yardsticks and slide-rules, even intangibles like education." True teachers, he said, are poles apart from those "assassins of child personality, who with sarcastic comment and unkind manner cut deep scars into the souls of boys and girls."

Teachers, he concluded, "have a sublime responsibility to indoctrinate in their pupils a reasoned, thoughtful, soundly-based love of country. If you succeed in all else and fail in that, you are unworthy of the country that has sheltered you. If you succeed in that, even though you fail in all else, you are entitled to be called an American teacher."

President Lawrence H. van den Berg, presided and conferred awards. The Rev. Christopher B. McCann gave the invocation and benediction. The valedictory was given by C. Kenneth Eldridge. Ninety-five received degrees.

Child Dies After Being Hit by Car

Ellenville Woman Driver Held on Charges

Alfred Best Budd, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Budd of Phillipsport, was fatally injured in front of the Budd home Sunday and Dorothea Little, 27, of Ellenville, operator of the auto which hit the child, was arrested on a charge of assault with an automobile and for having inadequate brakes.

The infant, playing with his older brother, Harley, ran into the road in front of the car operated by Mrs. Little, who was on her way to Horton Memorial Hospital to visit her husband. The latter suffered a leg fracture several weeks ago in an accident at a shale bank in Summitville.

Taken to the same hospital the child died at 6:15 p. m. Sunday, about four hours after the accident. Mrs. Little was released under $25 bail by Magistrate J. Eugene O'Gorman of Wurtsboro. State Troopers William Driscoll and C. W. Seymour and Vincent Faber announced after investigating the accident that the woman would be arraigned later on a criminal negligence charge as a result of the death of the child.

Besides his parents the child is survived by a brother, Harley; his grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. August Mettler, of an uncle, Theodore Mettler, of Jackson Heights, L. I. Funeral services will be held at the home of his parents Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the Poplar Grove cemetery, Phillipsport. The Rev. Donald Spencer, pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Church, will officiate.

Jap Fleet Limping To Home Base

as one destroyer sunk, an airplane carrier damaged and an unspecified number of planes destroyed. Meanwhile, Americans stirred to a graphic eye-witness account of Japanese naval destruction as viewed by Ensign George H. Gay, 25-year-old navy flier, of Houston, Tex., who was shot down and floated for 24 hours amid the flaming sea battle off Midway.

Gay said he rammed a torpedo into a Japanese aircraft carrier of the 26,900-ton Kaga class before being shot down and then watched U. S. torpedo-planes score direct hits on two other enemy carriers with resultant internal explosions that ripped their sides.

The young flier said he saw American planes blast other Japanese warships and watched a line of burning enemy ships pass close by him, billowing smoke and flames into the skies.

Just an Idea

Bergan Affirms Award Made in Gormley Action

The Eugene Gormley claim against the city of New York, arising out of the induction of Gilboa reservoir waters into the Esopus creek through the Shandaken tunnel, has again had the attention of the court. This time Justice Francis Bergan affirms the award made by commissioners of appraisal last January in a supplemental report which had been directed by the court after a first report had been rejected and the matter resubmitted to the commissioners for the purpose of segregating the damage to the mill site and dam and the farm lands.

A report was made in 1940 and the city moved to confirm, but the court directed that the amounts be segregated, fixing the damage to the mill and dam and the damage to the farm lands. As a result the matter went back to the commissioners and last January 23, Commissioners Emil A. Guenther, Peter G. Myers and George F. Humphrey made a supplementary report with regard to Parcel 17. It is that report which is now confirmed.

In breaking up the award the commission allowed with respect to the dam and mill site for damages $850 with interest from March 13, 1936. For the right in perpetuity the award was $750, with interest. For the other lands, including the quarry, the just and equitable compensation for damages amounts to $500 with interest and the compensation for the right in perpetuity is $1,100. The second report allowed $579.96 for expenses and disbursements.

The Gormley claim for Parcel 17 was an unusual one in that on the parcel was considerable farm land, an old mill site, a dam which had been damaged and a quarry site. The dam was swept away in 1926.

Claimant Gormley filed a claim for $25,000 for damages and sought to recover for the damage to the dam. His testimony indicated that a new dam would cost $1,745, and last twenty years, but that a temporary dam to be used during construction would cost $4,541. The city claimed a temporary dam would cost $650 and the main dam $1,350.

The award was moved for compensation at the April special term before Justice Schirich, who referred the matter to Justice Bergan before whom the matter had previously been heard. Henry R. Bright and Vincent G. Connelly of counsel appeared for the Corporation Counsel's office and Senator Charles W. Walton appeared for the claimant.

Justice Bergan in his memorandum which accompanied the order of confirmation, says:

"It must be conceded, I think, that there would have been inherent problems in the reconstruction of the dam after the flood of 1926. The bed of the Esopus was not dry. Even without the induced waters, there was still a stream to be dealt with in construction operations. The measure of damage, as I pointed out in 1940, is the accelerated cost reasonably due to the induction. It could not be that the entire cost of a coffer dam would be attributed to the induced water alone, if, indeed, a coffer dam was necessary; nor could the entire cost of the reconstruction be attributed to the induced waters."

"And in a stream flowing as irregularly as the Esopus, and construction undertaken would necessarily have to contemplate changes in flow of which the induced waters would merely be one element. I cannot say from this record that the commissioners have reached an erroneous conclusion, and even if I did think so, I could not interfere on this record with their conclusions."

told the House the scale of payments provided in the legislation purposely was kept moderate to prevent local draft boards from getting the impression they could draft family heads indiscriminately.

The scale calls for a $22 deduction from the service man's pay, to which a federal allowance of $28 would be added for a wife $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional child.

In all cases involving "Class A" dependents—wife or children, or both—the deductions and allowances are mandatory.

Allotments and allowances for "Class B" dependents, such as parents, brothers and sisters, provide for a $22 deduction from the service man's pay and federal additions of $15 for one parent, $25 for two parents and $5 for each dependent brother or sister. These deductions are optional with the service man.

In cases where a man has dependents of both classes, and elects to contribute to both, his total deductions would be $27 monthly, of which $22 would go to the "Class A" group, and $5 to those in "Class B." The federal payments would remain unchanged.

Affected by the bill are dependents of men up to and including the rank of line sergeant in the army and third class petty officer in the navy.

Hitler Attends Funeral of Nazi Hangman

Berlin (from German broadcasts), June 9 (AP)—Adolf Hitler termed Reinhard Heydrich, assassinated Gestapo official, "one of our martyrs" today at a state funeral shortly after Heinrich Himmler, head of the secret police declared "it is our holy duty to avenge" the protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

Hitler made an unannounced appearance at the funeral, leaving his headquarters on the Russian front, to confer on the slain No. 2 Gestapo chief "the highest award of the German order."

He placed a wreath on the coffin and embraced Heydrich's two sons before leaving the funeral hall. (Heydrich died last week after two undetected Czech assassins had bombed his automobile and machine-gunned him. Already 234 Czechs have been reported executed in reprisal.)

thinking" might lead to the belief that unemployment would almost disappear with the war effort. But it pointed out that civilian goods production has fallen sharply, industry is disinclined to hire older workers and many persons can not get to war jobs.

Statistics presented to the House showed that:

About 1,200,000 women entered the labor market and took jobs in March.

The average age of W.P.A. workers has risen from 42.4 in November, 1937, to 46.4 last February.

Reductions in the appropriation may mean the closing of some regional field offices, particularly the state headquarters.

In seven years, the W.P.A. had provided work for more than 8,000,000 different persons.

Uncle Sam's Turn
Less than ten years ago Uncle Sam was called upon to feed, clothe and house 9,000,000 men out of work and their families. He did so regardless of cost.

Today he asks every working man to turn out ships, planes, tanks, and guns as fast as possible, and willingly pays them for their labor the highest wages they ever earned.

On the principal that one good turn deserves another, Uncle Sam's request should be granted, and extra wages at least should be invested in defense bonds. American labor should not forget.

The second annual birthday banquet of Trinity Lutheran Church will be held Wednesday night, June 10, at the church. Dinner will be served at 6:30, with a program to follow.

The first of these birthday dinners was held last year and they are being continued with the object of adding to a fund for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the church in 1949.

Speaker Tells Women To Fight on Home Front for America

Comparing her own life in Russia before and during the Revolution, Mrs. Olga Kost pointed out the distinct advantages Americans have in their way of living. She spoke at the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet of the Tri-Hi Club of the Y. W. C. A. last evening.

Fully realizing the meaning of American freedom Mrs. Kost told the women to fight for America by preserving the high ideals of the home and the standard of living. She said that one of the greatest things women can do is to "be the sunshine of the nation."

She warned them not to become shabby in dress and to take this opportunity to improve themselves. They must keep up-to-date on all the news, study history and geography and be able to talk intelligently on all of the war conditions.

In speaking of the rationing she said that people must stop considering it a sacrifice and think of what a small bit it is to do in comparison with what the young men are going through in the battle front. She also warned against propaganda and suggested one way of beating it was to learn as much as possible about the situations and thus have a background with which to form opinions.

She discouraged the idea of women in an army for that reminded her too much of a totalitarian government. In spite of careers and work, woman's place was still in the home she declared. She said that women must be prepared to welcome the men in the fighting forces back to homes that are gay and cheerful.

For the latter part of her speech she reviewed her life in Russia and her escapes through the Revolutionary days to Constantinople and finally to the United States. She explained how she had been accustomed to having everything they could desire and then in a short time losing all even her father and little girl.

In closing she urged the women to give up being so frivolous with parties and good times of former years. She said that most people do not realize the seriousness of the times and after the war all will have to work much harder. She feels the government should not be expected to find jobs and give to people as it has done before.

The true American spirit is the pioneer spirit and that feeling must be felt in working to bring the dread days to a successful conclusion, she said.

Miss Frances Hainer, president of this year's Tri-Hi acted as mistress of ceremonies and gave the word of welcome to the group. Miss Rosemary Murphy gave the toast to the mothers and Mrs. Charles Raff replied for the mothers.

During the dinner group singing was led by Mrs. Raymond Rignall with Miss Jean Estey at the piano. Miss Shirley Riehl sang "I Would Be True" and Mrs. Kost also played several piano selections following her talk.

The evening was brought to an end with the ceremonial and senior farewell. At this time the responsibilities of the club are given by the senior officers to the officers for next year. This year's officers were Miss Frances Hainer, president; Miss Helen Krusinski, vice president; Miss Marion Raff, recording secretary; Miss Harriett Morrissey, corresponding secretary, and Miss Rosemary Murphy, treasurer. Only three of next year's officers have been chosen. They are Miss Helen Krusinski, president; Miss Virginia Crawford, treasurer; Miss Veronica Melonson, corresponding secretary. The vice president and recording secretary will be elected at the beginning of the fall term.

The supper was served cafeteria style with the girls serving their mothers. Assisting at the serving table were five of the Tri-Hi alumnae girls: the Misses Margaret Schilling, Joan Craig, Barbara Dawe, Jean Brigham and Gloria Post.

No Ban Against Bride Wearing White at her Second Wedding

There is no ban against white for a bride at her second marriage or even at her third, if she does not wear a bridal veil or orange blossoms. This is in answer to a widow in her upper forties who is soon to be married, and wonders whether it would be proper to wear white at her midsummer wedding. She says that she would like to wear this because the bridegroom who has never been married before, particularly wants her to be dressed all in white and carry a big bouquet.

In addition to the fact that (white) will be entirely proper in midsummer it is especially becoming to women of all ages. With this she should wear a hat if she's being married in the day time. Or a hair trimming in the evening. She may also carry a big bouquet—not too precisely arranged and with showering streamers; but any informally gathered spray of white flowers, would be suitable.

An Office Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: This is a small office. In addition to the employer there is a telephone operator who also does office work, and a stenographer who was employed about a year ago to assist me. I have been here since the start of the business. Now that our business is not too brisk I imagine it would be good judgment on my part to help to reduce some of the office expenses. I would be willing to try to do my work alone for the duration. I find it rather awkward, however, to speak of this since it will mean throwing the other girl out of employment. Would you advise it and, if so, how would you advise going about it so as not to be misunderstood?

Answer: You might say exactly what you've written me: Since the work has grown much less you feel you should do without an assistant. There is so much work for everyone at the present time that it is not likely that any young able-bodied person could be long unemployed. In other words, having made the suggestion to your employer it would then be up to him.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "A Small Wedding." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post.

Americans Doing Impossible, Says Donald M. Nelson

Columbia, O., June 9 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, who worked his way through the University of Missouri and returned today as an honored alumnus, told the 1942 graduating class that America is "doing the impossible" with war production exceeding all estimates.

Confidently the chairman of the war production board asserted "this year we shall make 60,000 airplanes and by the end of the year we shall still be picking up speed for an even vaster production in 1943."

Nelson explained that "we have found that our total production of war goods is higher than we had any reason to suppose it could be when blueprints were prepared for war plants."

A new aircraft factory was put into production some time ago, he said, as an illustration. "It had been designed to produce 50 airplanes a month, working at full capacity. Now we have discovered that its real capacity is much closer to 150 planes a month."

One reason for the unexpected production, he said, "is due to the fact that the men who are making the goods—the managers, the engineers, the foremen and the workers alike—are working as they never worked before to make the things we need so desperately on the battle line. But beyond that, I think that what we are seeing is the natural result of the application to munitions production of the best mass production techniques."

Sit-Down Strike

Akron, O., June 9 (AP)—Three hundred women war workers at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. went on a sit-down strike today, the company reported. Twelve sewing machine operators, at work on rubber life-saving equipment for the armed forces, started the sit-down in protest against a change from day work to piece work pay, officials said. The other women, on two shifts, stopped work in sympathy. They added: Wage scales were not given. A department of labor conciliator was expected to enter the controversy.

Strike Ends

New York, June 9 (AP)—By government request, 250 women electricians returned to work today on the naval air base at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, after an 11-day strike that had threatened to tie up all construction on the vital link in coast defense. The jurisdictional dispute between the strikers, members of Local Three of the A. F. L.-International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Independent United Electrical Workers, has not been settled but the A. F. L. men took up their tools pending a hearing Thursday by the war labor board.

Local Bakeries to Stop Home Deliveries

In order to comply with the government's regulations to conserve on rubber, gas and trucks, some of the local bakeries of Kingston have notified their customers that they will no longer be able to make home deliveries.

Schwenk's Bakery on Foxhall avenue, has served a written notice on their customers that the last delivery to the consumer will be made on Wednesday.

The printed announcement sets forth that the country is now engaged at war and that the bakery, with the rest of the public, have been asked to conserve on rubber, gas, trucks, etc. The bakery officials stated that an order had been issued by the government making it compulsory to reduce mileage by 25 per cent.

To comply with this order the bakery has found it necessary to eliminate deliveries to the consumers, who are urged to make their purchases of bread and other baked products at the nearest store.

War-Time Control Over All Nation's Inter-City Busses

Washington, June 9 (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation took war-time control today over all of the nation's inter-city bus operations, ordering present routes frozen, competitive service pooled, and all express service discontinued. The order is effective July 1.

After that date, ODT directed, inter-city busses may be operated "for the primary purpose" of serving food courses, athletic fields, race tracks, theaters, dancing pavilions, or "other places conducted primarily for the purpose of amusement or entertainment."

An ODT spokesman said this would affect bus service to beaches and other resorts provided the busses were used primarily to take passengers to such places. In addition, except for one daily round trip, bus companies must discontinue schedules which show an average load in both directions of less than 40 per cent of the seating capacity of the busses used. Operators are required to keep records of passenger miles and seat miles and report to ODT any round trip schedule which fails to meet the seating capacity requirement.

Father's Day June 21

A Wall street merchant says that a lot of people appear to be "mixed up" this year as to when Father's Day should be observed. He has had a number of inquiries, one of them from a person living 40 miles from Kingston and who, like a number of others, thought that next Sunday was the day. The merchant referred to states that Father's Day, 21, has been designated as Father's Day this year, next Sunday, June 14, being Flag Day.

Fire in Kerosene Hot Water Heater Threatens House

Fire, that started in the cellar from a kerosene hot water heater, caused some damage at 4:40 o'clock Monday afternoon in the two-story frame house, occupied by four families, and owned by Mrs. Blanche TenBroeck of Port Even, at 281 Washington avenue.

According to the fire department report Mrs. TenBroeck had gone to the cellar and lighted the hot water heater, and when it did not work properly, she shut it off, and later left the house to return to her home.

Shortly afterward Mrs. Louis Kornfeld, who occupies one of the apartments on the second floor discovered smoke, and the fire department was called.

The fire department believe that the fire was caused by a spark from the heater igniting some oil on the cellar floor. The fire spread out of the cellar window and up the siding of the house. The prompt arrival of the fire department confined the fire mostly to the cellar.

There was some smoke damage particularly in the apartments of Max Cherrick on the first floor and of Rodrick Shields on the second floor.

The other ground floor apartment is occupied by Vincent Callahan and the second floor apartment by Louis Kornfeld.

Committee Agrees to Boost Excise Taxes on Wines

Washington, June 9 (AP)—The House ways and means committee agreed tentatively today to boost excise taxes on wines to produce about $13,000,000 additional revenue.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) said that the committee had agreed to raise wines with less than 14 per cent alcohol from the present 8 cents a gallon to ten cents; wines with from 14 to 21 per cent alcohol, from 30 to 40 cents; wines with more than 21 per cent alcohol, from 65 cents to a dollar a gallon; sparkling wines, from 7 cents a half pint to 10 cents; artificial carbonated wines and liqueurs and cordials, from 3 1/2 cents a half pint to 5 cents.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau had asked for increased excises on wines to raise $25,000,000, but the committee chose to make less drastic increases in two categories—those of lower alcoholic content—than he had proposed.

175 Filling Station Operators Face Prosecution

New York, June 9 (AP)—A total of 175 filling station operators accused by the Office of Price Administration of violating gas rationing regulations face prosecution at public hearings beginning Thursday.

Walter Gelhorn, chief attorney for the O.P.A., second region, said hearings would be held here for 86 dealers, in Philadelphia, where 38 violators were found among 640 stations checked, and in Newark, where 51 operators of 592 sold gas to the volunteer women detectives who carried no ration card.

Operators found guilty face a fine as high as $10,000, a jail sentence, or both.

The O.P.A. has power without formal court action to order distributors to cease deliveries to service stations, Gelhorn said.

A total of 1,039 stations were checked in the metropolitan area over the week-end.

Save Rubber Is Purpose

Cleveland, June 9 (AP)—The only purpose of nation-wide gasoline rationing would be to save rubber, Director Joseph B. Eastman of the office of defense transportation declared today. "If the end could be accomplished in some other way, the result—so far as the consumption of gasoline is concerned—would be precisely the same," he told a Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Rev. Muilenburg Will Go to China As Missionary

At a meeting of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America, being held in Albany, it was announced yesterday that four missionaries would be sent to China, one of them being the Rev. John P. Muilenburg, assistant pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church since September last.

The Synod committee on foreign missions reported that last year 128 missionaries of the Reformed Church were in active service in China, India, Japan and Arabia. Most of them returned home on furlough at the beginning of this year, but it was stated that the church still has two missionaries in China and two in India.

A world government, to act as final authority on international issues and trade agreements, with armed forces to maintain its authority, was recommended Monday to the Synod, by a committee on good will and international justice.

The Rev. M. Stephen James, minister of the Albany church, was nominated yesterday to the chair of practical theology at the New Brunswick, N. J., Theological Seminary, to succeed the Rev. Theodore Floyd Bayles, retired.

The Synod was to close today.

Electrol Plant Will Expand

and he said the townspeople had demonstrated a most friendly attitude toward new people coming in.

It was stated that speed is the one element which enters into the work. The one desire is to get the new plant into production as quickly as possible. What normally would take three months to do in the way of fitting out the plant must be done in a month, it was pointed out.

Local contractors who desire to secure information regarding the proposed alterations and improvements to the new plant may secure such information from Mr. Schumate, Electrol representative who will have charge of contracts and construction.

Many of the small outside buildings and sheds which now dot the premises will be torn down to eliminate any fire hazard and the entire plant will be enclosed in a high wire fence.

Officials of the Electrol plant were high in their praise for Mr. King of Pilgrim Furniture Company for the splendid co-operation shown in the matter when it became obvious that the plant occupied by the furniture company was needed for defense work.

Pilgrim Co. Plans

Barney R. King, president and general manager of the Pilgrim Furniture Co., said today that the Defense Plant Corp. of the federal government had taken over the plant, and that he had received instructions to vacate the plant by midnight July 8.

The Pilgrim Co. today was arranging to lease three or four smaller buildings in Kingston in which to locate the various units of the industry.

The Pilgrim Co. manufactures maple living room furniture and sold the concern employs 110 men, and has a payroll of $100,000 a year.

The Pilgrim Co. located in Kingston 5 1/2 years ago, and has been in operation ever since. They occupy the plant of the former Lorillard Company on Grand street, adjoining the Electrol, Inc.

The furniture company is using 60,000 square feet of floor space. Scattering the manufacturing units throughout the city in several smaller buildings is not expected to work out successfully in the long run, and what is needed is the erection of an inexpensive one-story building along the West Shore railroad tracks where the industry can be housed under one roof.

Since locating in Kingston the concern has been affording employment to high school youth, 16 years of age and over, placing them at a wage of $16 a week. Then, after the boys have become accustomed to the work required, they are advanced to piece work and some of them are able to earn as high as $30 a week.

The concern employs male help almost exclusively.

the 13 wards of the city. These members of the general committee will enlist the services of perhaps 300 workers and a house-to-house canvass will be made of the entire city, so that every resident of the city will be given an opportunity to make some contribution to a cause of such general and widespread interest.

Judge Conway said, "The result of the work you do will be a potent factor in sustaining the morale of the men in the armed forces. The U. S. O. furnishes funds to give sufficient recreation to the boys in service, in all branches of the armed forces. You help someone you know, when you give to the U. S. O." Judge Conway asked the workers to make the campaign spirited and when the organizations in the various wards are set up to "begin your drive immediately, not next week, but this week."

City Chairman Flanagan urged the committee to get their wards organized as soon as possible and get all needed canvassers signed up. The success of the campaign rests with the canvassers and the people of the city who are asked to contribute, he said, adding that all should "give until it hurts, for this great work."

During his absence at Saranac Lake, where he attends a Savings and Loan convention, Mr. Flanagan suggested that workers consultant Allen A. Baker, who is assistant chairman for the campaign in the city of Kingston.

The first contribution in the drive was $5 turned in by Wiltwyck Hose Co., in the First Ward.

Hasbrouck Rites Largely Attended

Services Are Simple and Without Extended Eulogy

A large and representative company of friends, and men and women prominent in legal, social, and civic affairs in the county and state gathered at the First Reformed Church in Kingston at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to pay their last tribute to one of Kingston's most honored citizens, former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck, who died Friday night, following an immediate illness of several months.

Prominent among organizations represented was a large delegation from the Ulster County Bar, headed by Justice Harry E. Schirick and who were joined by attorneys from other parts of the state who in times past had practiced before or been associated with Judge Hasbrouck. Many other organizations with which the judge had been connected were represented. Among them were the Ulster County Historical Society, of which he was president for years up to the time of his death; the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, which he headed for many years; the Kingston Library Association, of which he was president; numerous other civic movements, bankers, business men and others.

The services, which at the request of the family were simple and without extended eulogy, were conducted by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the Rev. Dr. William H. S. Demarest, former head of Rutgers University and of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

During his conduct of the ritual service the Rev. Mr. Oudemool took occasion to refer to the appropriateness of the fact that the last rites for Judge Hasbrouck should be held in the historic old church of which he was a member and a faithful attendant at worship each Sunday while health permitted, and whose nearly 300 years of continuous history had been a great source of interest to him and the subject of an historical sketch.

Quoting Edwin Markham's lines on the passing of Abraham Lincoln, in which the latter was referred to as a cedar tree in the forest which,

"Goes down with a great shout upon the hills And leaves a lonesome place against the sky,"

the Rev. Mr. Oudemool said, "In the great forest of this congregation, we feel as if our great, kindly, lordly leader has gone down, leaving that lonesome place against the sky which will not, because it cannot, be refilled."

Dr. Seeley, for many years a close friend of Judge Hasbrouck, paid a brief tribute during which he gave Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

The prayer was by Dr. Demarest, whose lifelong friendship with Judge Hasbrouck dated back to their student days at Rutgers University. He referred to his loyalty, his scholarship, his attainment in legal, social, civic and benevolent activities and his faithfulness to the great traditions, not only of his church but his native home.
